POWELL TRAGEDY FOLLOWED BUTLER'S THREAT TO SUE MASTER

RESENTED INSINUATIONS OF INTIMACY WITH WIFE

resent, and in confusion, started to find "not to be surprised if something serious happened shortly."

That letter was received by the friend on Tuesday, a few hours before Powell murdered his wife, tried to kill the butler, and finally shot himself.

That Powell went for days playing with the idea of wiping the real or fancied stain from his honor by killing his wife, the butler and the friends of his family no longer doubt.

But that he had set the date for the wholesale killing is doubtful. It is more likely that the brooding husband was stirred to action by the sudden appearance of Maloney, when he learned that he drew his gun with the intention of killing the butler, but was defeated by the circumstances with which the later skipped from the room; and that he then decided to go through with as much of his program as was possible.

Maloney today admitted he believed himself the indirect cause of the shooting, because of his employer's suspicions of him, and because when the butler intimated were ungrounded.

Josephine England, Mrs. Powell's favorite maid, who entered her room nineteen years ago, when her first mistress married R. H. White, told for the first time today her story of the shooting.

"We had just moved into the Chestnut Hill house from No. 36 Powers for the Summer," said Miss England.

"The trunk were still unpacked, and I was on the second floor going through them when I heard the first shot. I straightened up in terror. I heard my mistress scream and then saw shots. I don't know how many. "Frightened as I was, I ran down the front stairs. As I reached the bottom I noticed Mr. Powell going up the back stairs. He was happily calm, as contrasted with the nervousness he had been exhibiting for several days.

ASKED FOR DOCTOR.

"I know immediately something terrible had happened. I went into the living room, but Mrs. Powell wasn't there. I then went into the library, and my poor mistress, bleeding, lay on the floor.

"I asked her what had happened, but she only said: 'Oh, Josephine, get Dr. Phillips, quickly,' and I telephoned.

"I asked her again what had happened. Instead of replying, she told me to rub her feet, and also put some cracked ice between her lips. When the doctor came she was in intense pain and was moaning. 'Oh, doctor, help me, help me!'

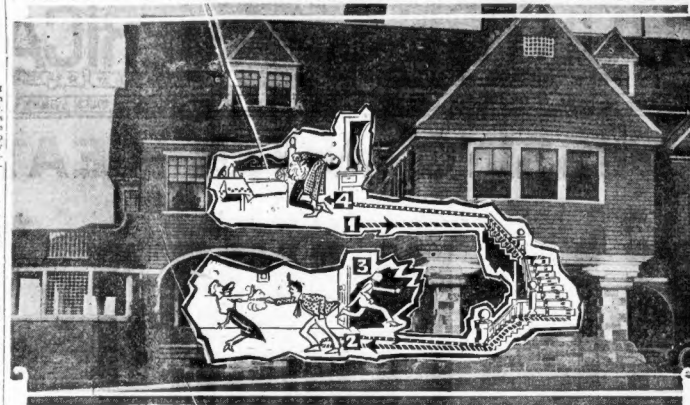

"She made no mention that I heard of what had happened. Her husband's name was not on her lips before she died. She did not mention Maloney, the butler. I did not see Maloney when I went into the library and I don't think he was there.

"It is a fact that I was listening at the keyhole to a conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Powell over Maloney. I did not suspect anything was wrong, and had no cause to listen.

"The first shot was my first intimation that tragedy had come into the house."

Miss England had a sense of personal loss in the death of Mrs. Powell, into whose service she went

HOW POWELL KILLED WIFE AND SELF

CHESTNUT HILL MANSION AND DIAGRAM OF TRAGEDY

1—William H. Powell leaves his room with a revolver determined to have a reckoning with his butler, Michael Maloney, with whom he has been quarreling for several days.

2—Powell shoots his wife after words with the butler, who had been summoned to the library.

3—The butler fled when Powell drew a revolver and as he ran out of the library heard the shots that killed Mrs. Powell.

4—Powell returns to his room and when his revolver jams, gets another and shoots himself.

For the office, Mrs. Powell called for him in the automobile in the afternoon and they went home together, apparently untroubled.

The Chestnut Hill house is guarded by special police today and all who have no business in the house are barred.

Maloney's interview, admitting he was the indirect cause of the shooting, was given today at the home of friends at No. 22 Forest Hills street, Jamaica Plain.

The butler admitted he was the indirect cause of the tragedy.

He said he could still hear the shots that were fired in the Powell mansion on Tuesday evening when Powell shot down his wife, fired three times at the butler, whom he had accused of being intimate with his wife and then, stopping upstairs, killing himself.

Maloney said Mrs. Powell had been acting strangely for ten days.

"Business friends of the dead man declared he acted 'normal' before then.

IGNORANT AFFRONT.

It was learned today that the tragedy might have been averted had the butler left the house when he was first accused by Mrs. Powell a week ago. But Maloney was not paid by Mr. Powell. He received his salary from the managers of the R. H. White estate, under the direction of Mrs. Powell.

Michael ignored the first affronts of his master. For two days neither spoke.

A week ago Wednesday Mrs. Powell demanded of the butler to know why Mrs. Powell had spent so much time within the country house the Sunday prior.

The butler asked the master. There were daily clashes after that. The result was the house denouncing the master.

GOADED BY MALONEY.

Mr. Powell who had started a spree while with Mrs. Powell a few weeks before in the Bahamas, returned drunk. Suspicion of his wife and humiliation at her butler's affronts goaded him to madness.

After a week he persuaded Mrs. Powell to discharge Maloney. Maloney calmly disclaimed Powell's money, and said, "I've got something on you."

Powell meant to kill the butler. He escaped, leaving Mrs. Powell at the mercy of her jealous, intoxicated husband. The tragedy followed. Here is the butler's narrative:

BUTLER'S STORY.

"I tendered my resignation and threatened to sue Powell for his insinuations," said Maloney. The butler stated that a week ago Mr. and Mrs. Powell and their chauffeur returned to the Chestnut Hill house.

"Mrs. Powell came in alone and superintended of the estate."

"While I was on this errand Powell yelled to his wife from the car outside, asking her what she was doing in the house so long."

"Last Wednesday Powell came to the house and walked in without speaking to me. The following day he again came and passed me by without a nod or word of recognition. As I came out of the pantry I called to me, 'Michael, what were you and Mrs. Powell doing in the house Sunday?'

SHEA TOLD MRS. POWELL.

"I replied, 'I do not know what you mean.' I then offered to go up stairs with him to see Mrs. Powell, to which he said, 'I want you to let this drop. It is a personal question and I don't want Mrs. Powell to know it.'

"I do not care anything for you or your personal questions," I answered him.

"After that I told Mrs. Powell of the conversation. She went down stairs and out. But I heard the house. I was told by one of the maids that Powell then packed his grip with some whiskey, a revolver and a Bible.

"No one came to the house on the following day, Saturday morning.

both Mr. and Mrs. Powell arrived she came into the kitchen to look at the floor the men had been working and said they looked fine.

"I then told her I was going to go through. She said, 'I don't want you to. Your work has been satisfactory. Forget about it. It does not amount to anything.'

"I said, 'I cannot let that drop. I am going to see if I can't take Mr. Powell to court. I will not allow him to slander my reputation.'

"In the afternoon Powell came out and I saw him. He went into the library and sat by the desk and I went in after him, closing the door.

"I said, 'Mr. Powell, I would like to know what you mean by acting what Mrs. Powell said. We were there in the front room Sunday. You have not even apologized for what you said then.'

"He replied, 'I have I not the right to ask a civil question of one of my employees?'

"I said, 'I said, 'What was that not a civil question. What did you mean when you said it was a personal question?'

RESENTS QUESTIONING.

"You can't talk to me like that, Michael," he said, "in my own house. If I mistreated or thought as you do I would about you on the spot."

"I told him I would sue him and that I would not allow him to drag my reputation down. I told him I was going to look for satisfaction. He said, 'Go ahead and do what you please about it.' I told him I would sue him on Monday, after he had asked me not to leave the house alone."

"Last Sunday both of them came to the house. Mrs. Powell said, 'How are you, Michael?'

answered her. Monday they came out there to live. Mr. and Mrs. Powell had dinner in town and did not return until evening. I did not speak to either of them."

SUMMONED BY POWELL.

"Tuesday morning Mr. Powell got up and left his house at 11, as usual. Mrs. Powell left some time in the forenoon. Both returned around 4 o'clock with the chauffeur and a new maid. I then went out to the lawn to clean the rugs. After supper I went to my room and changed my clothes. I was about ready to go out at 5:30, when the housekeeper came up and said, 'Michael, Mr. Powell wants to speak to you down stairs.'

"I said, 'You tell Mr. Powell I will come to him when I am ready.' I went down stairs about 6 o'clock and Mrs. Powell was in the library, Mr. Powell sitting at the desk, and Mrs. Powell on a couch near the desk. Powell said some money in his hand."

"I said, 'What do you wish to speak to me?'

"He said, 'Yes, Michael, how much do I owe you?'

"I told him he owed me nothing—that I had been paid the morning before by the estate. I said the only money I owed him was two days which I worked just to oblige Mrs. Powell until she could get another man."

"Then Mrs. Powell said, 'I found a man in town today, Michael. I replied that I was awfully glad.'

"Mr. Powell then said, 'Well how much for the two days?'

"I told him, 'I will see you about that later, Michael.'

"I said, 'I will see you about that later. I have something on you, and you know it.'

"Then he asked, 'Aren't you going to sue me, Michael?'

"I said, 'I will see you about that later. I have something on you, and you know it.'

"Then he drew the revolver and pointed it at me and said, 'You will save me the money. I got out of the room and heard four shots in succession.'

"I know nothing of what happened after that. Mr. and Mrs. Powell said that I went down to the super's tender's quarters and waited there until sent for by the Medical Examiner."

Maloney was originally a conductor on a street railway. He left that position several years

GIRL LEAPS OUT OF SPEEDING STOLEN CAR KILLS HIMSELF AFTER FIRING AT BROTHER

South Boston Miss Jumps as Police Open Fire; Her Companion on Topics of Stars, Roses and Love

A girl jumped from a speeding auto with a cry of alarm when police fired a fusillade of revolvers shots after the stolen car, in which she was being driven across Harvard Bridge today.

She escaped unhurt. After being questioned by the police, she was allowed to go home.

She was Anna King, twenty years old, of No. 25 West Fifth street, South Boston, the Boston American learned.

Her companion, John J. Sullivan, twenty-six years old, of third street, Cambridge, was caught when, in the excitement following the girl's leap, he crashed into a stone pillar at Charles street and wrecked the machine. He was slightly hurt.

The car belonged to Fred W. Burns of No. 16 Charleston road, Newton. Sullivan was arraigned in court today, charged with theft.

Two Cambridge patrolmen aided the automobile on the bridge. It had been reported as stolen just before midnight.

They shouted to the occupants to halt. Sullivan, they say, stepped on the gas.

Fifteen shots were pumped after the fleeing car.

The girl jumped and the car crashed to pieces a moment later.

Brooklyn Suicide Leaves Notes on Topics of Stars, Roses and Love

Brooklyn, May 4.—Carl J. Blum, a shoemaker, fired two shots at his sleeping brother, Sture Blum, his bedfellow today, and then committed suicide by firing a bullet through his head. The brother was unhurt.

Carl Blum, who was thirty years old, was insane, the police said. They found notes about love, stars and in the room, together with bankbooks for $200.

The younger brother, twenty, was a recent immigrant from Sweden.

COST OF LIVING DOWN 4.2 P. C. IN 3 MONTHS

Washington, May 4.—The average cost of living in the United States decreased 4.2 per cent in the period from December, 1921, to March, 1922, and 22.8 per cent from June, 1920, to last March. The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor announced today the level of prices in March, however, according to the bureau's figures was 65.9 per cent higher than in 1913.

REPORTS DEMAND FOR ARTISANS AND FARM HELP

Progress in solving Boston's unemployment problem is satisfactory, according to a report issued by the public employment office at No. 23 Pearl street. There has been a strong demand for skilled artisans and farmers are continually applying for help. The opening of Summer hotels and restaurants has created a demand for house help.

FIANCE'S AUNT HALTS BOSTON GIRL'S WEDDINGS

A romance between a youthful Porto Rican student and a Boston stenographer, which was to have blossomed into a wedding this week, was suddenly blighted when the student's aunt revealed to local authorities that he had given the wrong age on his marriage intention certificate, and caused them to cancel it.

The student is Emilio Paget, Jr., while his intended Miss was Helen Victoria West, and twenty-one, of No. 33 Washington street, Dorchester.

On April 24 the two went to the City Hall and filed a marriage intention. Paget, a former Boston University student, now studying at Burdett's Business College, gave his age as twenty-two.

Shortly afterwards a telegram was received by officials at the marriage license bureau here, requesting them not to issue a license to Paget because he is, in reality, only eighteen. The telegram was sent by his aunt, Mrs. C. C. Smith, of No. 501 West 135th street, New York.

So, when the prospective young bridegroom went to the hall at the expiration of the five-day period to get his license it was refused.

Plans for the wedding, which had been made with the usual haste of a student on the eve of his departure, were abruptly halted. On the heels of the cancellation of the marriage license came word that the aunt in New York was young Paget held by the police pending the arrival of his father, Emilio Paget, Sr., who is a wealthy plantation owner in Porto Rico.

BRIDE-TO-BE HOPEFUL. Miss West is disappointed and hurt, naturally, but she has not given up hope. Relatives at her home told a Boston American reporter she would wait until Paget is of legal age, and then would go through with the ceremony.

The fact that she faces a wait of two or three years does not seem to discourage her.

Paget, it is said, is in heavy accord with this scheme—provided that his father does not pack him

Her Romance Blocked When Fiance's Aunt Halts License

HELEN VICTORIA WEST, Dorchester girl whose wedding with Emilio Paget, Jr., a Porto Rican student, has been temporarily postponed.

Hearty called off, since the latter's aunt revealed to the Boston marriage license officials that the prospective bridegroom is only eighteen years old, although he gave his age as twenty-two.

But to Porto Rico again when he is here.

The two met a year ago at a fraternity dance, while Paget was a student at Boston University.

BODY OF WOMAN IS FOUND IN GRAVEL PIT

St. John's, N. Y., May 4.—The body of Miss Fowles, a young woman of Holyoke, was discovered in a gravel pit 200 yards from her parents' home early today. She disappeared several months ago, and it is thought she went astray in a lizard and stumbled in the pit, being killed by the fall or suffocated by the snow.

BOLT SETS FIRE IN HAVERHILL; KILLS COWS

Haverhill, May 4.—A horse, two cows and a score of chickens were killed today by a bolt of lightning which struck and set fire to the barn of Alvin Lathrop on Kingsbury avenue. The barn and several out-houses were burned to the ground and for a time the Lathrop farmhouse was threatened.

Mrs. Lathrop, who has been ill, was taken from her bed and carried to the home of a neighbor. The thunder and lightning storm, which broke just before daybreak, was the first here this season.

Forest Fire Follows Fatal Dartmouth Blaze

After a heroic fight to save his home from flames, William Corrie was found dead in his burned home at South Dartmouth by firemen. The blaze there burned for many hours and made desolate over two miles of residential territory. At Forest Hill, fire swept over Bradley Mountain, burning barns and other property and causing great fear among nearby dwellers. Joints today crunched the fire ravaging timber lands in many sections of Massachusetts.

Springfield, May 4.—Lawrence Small, aged eight years, colored, son of Louis Small of No. 212 Quincy street, was drowned in Watershops Pond. With other companions he was playing about the houses of the Springfield Ice Company when he fell into the water. C. L. Nichols, a student of the Springfield College, went to the rescue. He secured the body and worked over it for an hour, but life was extinct.

ELEVATED INSPECTOR SUFFERS SCALP WOUND

Thomas F. Kennedy, forty-four years old, a Boston Elevated inspector living at No. 719 East Third street, South Boston, suffered a severe scalp wound when he struck his head against an automobile truck at Rowe's wharf. Kennedy was reversing the trolley pole of a street car when the rope broke and he fell backward on to the truck. The pole flew up and, striking the power wire, caused a small blaze, which brought out an engine and truck.

WANTS MILLION FOR "RIDICULE" IN FILMS

Hoboken, N. J., May 4.—Ridiculed, he says, because the elaborate funeral of his dog was shown in the movies, Dr. A. M. Hyde, a dentist, announced he was going to sue the company who produced the picture, and the theatres who showed it, for $1,000,000 damages. The camera man asked if he could take the picture, Dr. Hyde said, but when he saw the camera he was so "profoundly cupped" that he did not realize what he was doing.

BRIDE-TO-BE GUITS FIANCE TO WED ANOTHER

Franklin, N. H., May 4.—A strange marital mixup, in which a prospective bride left her husband-to-be, answered a newspaper advertisement for a housekeeper, and married the man who answered it, was revealed when the bride of Fred Pettigall, who was to have married Fred Downing, who had even moved his furniture into her home. But she surprised him one afternoon by coming home with Pettigall and announcing that she had married him.

IRATE PARENT SENDS "KICKS" TO NEAR EAST

Philadelphia, May 4.—Included in the 500 tons of clothing which represented Philadelphia's response to the State-wide call for "Raided Day" issued by the Near East Relief, were two pairs of new ladies' knickerbockers. Accompanying them was a note from an irate parent, who expressed the hope that some unfortunate girl in Armenia would find them to be just as utilitarian as a daughter of hers believed them to be fashionable.

HUNT DRIVER WHO DESERTED HIS VICTIM

Asserts Desertion by Husband the Kindest Act He Ever Did

MRS. HARRY C. THORNELL

State police are searching for the driver of an automobile, who, after running down an Italian in Andover, brought him to Stoneham and left him lying unconscious in front of the New England Sanitarium at Spot Pond and then drove off.

Angelo Ciraci, thirty-five years old, of No. 12 High street, Haverhill, who is in a dangerous condition in the Melrose Hospital, told police after regaining consciousness he was crossing the street in the shadowed village, Andover, when he was struck by an automobile. The driver stopped and picked him up and said he would drive him to a hospital.

He drove to Stoneham, some miles away, and when in front of the sanitarium left the injured man lying by the roadside. Some time later William J. L. Roop of No. 210 West Emerson street, Melrose, driving past, saw the unconscious man and took him to his machine to the Melrose Hospital.

MOVIE ACTRESS SAYS HUSBAND BEAT HER

Harry C. Thornell, former Lynn shoe manufacturer and prominent in fraternal circles, was a "house lion" and was unkind and unforgiving, according to his wife, who is known as Helen Edgewood, a movie star and stage actress.

Thornell was placed on probation when arraigned before Judge Ralph W. Howe in Lynn District Court on a charge of desertion.

Mrs. Thornell said that she had to make excuses to her friends for her blackened eyes and bruised body, the result of the beatings she received from her husband.

"Deserting me is the kindest thing he ever did," she told Judge Howe. "I gave him eleven years of my life and never knew what happiness meant."

SCORES GRILLED IN BREWSTER INQUEST

The inquest in the Brewster murder case was resumed in Woburn District Court before Judge John J. Maguire.

Some twenty-two witnesses were heard. Mrs. Bertha Robinson, mother-in-law of Brewster, and Mrs. Ruthena Brewster, widow of the murdered man, arrived from Pittsfield, N. H.

District Attorney Endicott P. Ballantyne of Middlesex County at the conclusion of the inquest declared he had no statement to make, although he did say, regardless of the outcome of the inquest, he will continue the investigation.

It was rumored about the court house that several women, many from Winchester, will be cross-examined at today's hearing.

The salt and pepper hat which was found a few feet from the scene of the murder at the Winchester depot, on Thursday night, April 20, was exhibited in court. It being the only hat, consisting of representatives of the Civil Service, the department, and the public.

Now Patent Medicine Is to Lose That Hard Kick

New York, May 4.—Two hundred patent medicine manufacturers attending the second day session of the Proprietary Association convention here today considered the probable effect of plans to take the "kick" out of their product. Henry C. Fuller, chemist, has informed them that he is making good progress in the manufacture of a "demulant" for alcohol.

"When we substitute this for alcohol," he said, "those who drink patent medicines for the kick won't be able to get away with enough of it to gain even a suspicion of intoxication."

FAVORS BILL TO CURB DEPARTMENT HEADS

A bill which would take from state department heads the power to discharge subordinates was favorably reported by the legislative committee on state administration.

Under the terms of the bill the department heads could only suspend, employ, and the case would have to be passed on by a board of review, consisting of representatives of the Civil Service, the department, and the public.

RESCUE BOSTON GIRL HELD AS SLAVE

New York, May 4.—A girl of twenty, bride of four weeks, was rescued from a room here by two policemen after a battle in which pistols were drawn with her husband, who is alleged to have forced her into white slavery.

The man is Carroll Karck, twenty-five years old of Manhattan. The girl, until four weeks ago, was Alice Sullivan of Boston.

Patrolmen Hodelburg and Tierney, in civilian clothes, were walking down the street when they were approached by a young man. He led them to the Karck apartment.

Karck called to his wife. She appeared, crying, and protested. According to the police he beat her until she yielded, and then put her into a room with Tierney, who in a moment told her he was a policeman. The girl screamed.

According to the police, Karck, "threw open the door and, holding a pistol against the policeman's side, threatened him with death. Hodelburg, who had been waiting outside, entered and the two subdued Karck and took him to the station. In Yorkville Court, Karck was held in $5,000 bail.

Charlie Chaplin's Visit to Europe

ONE night, as Chaplin sat with friends in "The Dead End" a famous club of the Montmartre district of Paris, a beautiful blonde girl with a strikingly sensitive mouth, passed his table. She was the most striking-looking girl he had seen in Europe. What happened between Chaplin and this girl, who had everything from "gentleness to passion and a snarling heavy."

is revealed in Charlie Chaplin's own story entitled "My Trip Abroad," which begins in the May 6th issue of Movie Weekly.

In his own language, he tells you how London screamed a welcome as him and Paris celebrated his coming by declaring a holiday.

How he felt when the French Minister honored him with the French decoration.

It is a story that includes such famous persons as Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Marquis de Vaux, Mrs. M. Cecil, M. Henri Lattre, M. Georges Carpentier, Prince George of Greece.

KILLS TEACHER, THEN HOLDS UP BANK

Northwood, Ia., May 4.—(The Register.)—A school teacher, who was shot and killed before the eyes of her pupils by Irvin Bonker, a farm hand, because he refused to accompany him to a party.

Bonker, who had just taken their seats in the schoolroom for the morning, saw Bonker raised the teacher to the blackboard and fired several shots at her and fled through the window.

Bonker, after killing Miss Newlin, fled in his automobile to Manly, where he attempted to hold up the Farmers' Savings Bank. Covering "Shallie Schutte" with his revolver, he pulled the trigger, but the gun failed to discharge. Bonker of the bank overpowered him and took him to jail.

In a confession, Bonker blamed his act on drink.

RIGGS STARR'S SHOWS THOUSANDS

By A. R. HOGG

Scores of unique radio appliances never before shown are on exhibition in Mechanics Hall.

Apparatus of novel design attracted considerable attention from the big crowd of fans that thronged the hall. New types of loudspeakers, very loud sets, and unusually complete sets were much in evidence among the sixty-two exhibits.

The Wireless Specialty Apparatus Company exhibited an interesting receiving set of unique design. It was built with four stages of radio frequency and two steps of audio frequency amplification, although only four vacuum tubes were used. One of the tubes was used both for radio and audio-frequency amplification, while the detector was a crystal. It was claimed that this set would pick up the distant station with an indoor coil antenna.

RIVALRY IN CHEAPNESS.

A keen competition for the cheapest set was waged among the exhibitors. One company showed a set for $4.50 and another displayed a $7.50 set, in both cases minus the phone. A tiny crystal set, about small enough to fit into a cigarette box, to set on the dashboard of an automobile was displayed by one of the companies. Another set, in the model stage, was said that around two dollars.

A handsomely designed set that drew considerable attention, used four stages of radio frequency and two stages of audio-frequency amplification with a vacuum tube detector. With an indoor antenna, it was said that this set would pick up the distant stations, and that an outdoor antenna left the sky the limit. It was displayed by the Radio Shop of Boston.

THEY LEARN HOW

Says Most People Like Bathing, but They Don't Want to Go Swimming Until They Learn How

This is the time of year when people think about going on vacations, and that's as far as a lot of them ever get.

The nearest they come to taking a ride on a railroad is traveling on their train of thought.

A lot of employees do nothing all year, but for two weeks they do it away from the office.

They think they have to go to the country to get brown. They forget that when they were kids they used to get tanned in the woodshed.

Two weeks' vacation isn't enough. You have to spend one week deciding where to go and the other week deciding how to get there.

And then just as you get ready to leave it's time you take a look.

You've spent so much time saying "Goodbye" that you haven't had a chance to go.

When all your plans are completed and your trunk is finally packed you find you have only one day left and you're not ready to go.

Most resorts send out such wonderful folders and pamphlets that you can't visit all the small places by mail.

Loud speakers and devices to avoid speaker to listen in on a single pair of phones were plentiful. Several used rubber tubing and "ear plugs" such as used to be employed in the penny-in-the-slot talking machines. These picked up the sound so efficiently that almost as much volume was obtained as with the receiver claimed to be the ears.

Several devices for clamping a pair of earphones onto an ordinary phonograph will fill a long-felt want among radio fans.

Broadcasts were constantly being picked up. A transmitting station in the hall was used to broadcast the speech of welcome made by Mayor Curley, together with songs, music, and announcements. Together with this was the usual Medford broadcast, which was picked up by several stations.

Because of the large number of instruments in the hall all trying to tune in at once, the broadcasts occasionally suffered from interference. Most of the receiving sets of the design most commonly used now transmit a flying sound while they are being tuned, which stops when tuning has been completed. This was being observed when exhibitors were asked to keep their sets in one constant.

The boy element was well represented at the show as soon as the schools closed. Two twelve-year-old enthusiasts were stationed to the booth of Horace Partridge and were ready to explain the details of radio operation to fans of their own age.

TWO BEDS IN ROOM FIGURE IN WILL SUIT

George Tebelacker, employed as superintendent of the Trowbridge estate at Franklin, occupied a couch in the same room with Mrs. Flora A. Trowbridge, Miss Sarah A. Cushing testified in Dedham Superior Court when relatives of Mrs. Trowbridge sought to break her will by which she left $100,000 to Tebelacker.

Miss Cushing and Miss Alice Wright were witnesses to the will made by Mrs. Trowbridge. The will was being contested by Mrs. Emma Thayer Kingsbury, Mrs. "Tom" Kingsbury's sister, and by two nieces, Mrs. Allen Jones and Miss Jennie Kingsbury. They charge undue influence.

Miss Cushing said that though Mrs. Trowbridge had a house of twelve rooms, only two were occupied. In one room she had a couch and bed and Tebelacker used the couch.

An attempt was made to break the will last Fall on the grounds that Mrs. Trowbridge was of unsound mind. This failed, but the jury could not answer the question of whether there had been undue influence. The Kingsbury family were not provided for in the will.

TUFTS PROFESSOR IN SPEECH PRAISES CHANDI

Professor Clarence R. Skinner of Tufts College and Alexander N. Ghose, professor of physics and director of the University of Calcutta, India, were the principal speakers at a luncheon for India at the English High School. Both speakers lauded the work done by Gandhi, the Indian leader, in the movement for the redemption of that country. "Gandhi's work is not only for the benefit of India," Professor Skinner said, "but for the whole of civilization. Freedom for India will mean the salvation of the world, besides the salvation of the British empire."

CIVIL SERVICE CLUB HOLDS DANCE TOMORROW

State officers have been invited to attend a dance of the Civil Service Club, composed of employees of the State Department at Civil Service and Registration, which is to be held tomorrow night at Cranberry Hall, Beach street, Cambridge.

Pan-American Woman Here With Party Touring States

MARA SANCHEZ.

Celebration of the visit to Boston of women representatives of the Latin-American countries, who have been in the United States for the Pan-American Convention of Women, was under way today. The women are paying their visit in Boston at the invitation of Mayor James M. Curley.

Arriving at the South Station at 8:35 this morning, they were met by representatives of the Mayor's office and the Boston League of Women Voters, and taken to the Hotel Somerset. Luncheon at Wellesley College, a visit to Shattuck Hall, and an evening reception were on the program today.

Among the women in the party is Mara Sanchez.

A luncheon trip is planned for tomorrow. Saturday the women will visit City Hall and confer with Mayor Curley.

O'BRIEN OPENS WAR ON WIFE DESERTERS

District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien declared war "without mercy" on wife deserters at the Hotel Somerset.

Speaking before a gathering of more than 500 men and women who in speech and cheers paid him tribute, the Suffolk County prosecutor said:

"I have always tried to temper justice with mercy, but there are one or two types whom I will not temperly punish."

"The first is that despicable creature the 'wife deserter' who has no honor, who has no shame, who shirks his obligations as a man and whom I will bound and nound to the four corners of this country who make him return to the wife and children he so cowardly deserts."

"The other is the drug pedlar who, in my years of penal training I have seen beyond virtuous girls and straight youths. By the proffer of his sinister notions he has led many good girls to a life in the streets. He is a body-breaker and a soul-wrecker and as such, deserves neither mercy nor consideration."

CHARLESTOWN P. O. CLERK IS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Frank J. Bartlett, of No. 93 Bromfield street, Somerville, formerly special clerk in the Charlestown postoffice, was held for the Federal grand jury by U. S. Commissioner Hayes, following his swearing campaign in the capture of a letter which contained a $500 Liberty bond. Bartlett has been in the postoffice for twenty-two years. He furnished bail of $500.

EX-WIFE PRESIDENT IS EN ROUTE WITH MASONS

Housewife Council of the Northern Jurisdiction of American Masons, together with representatives of the Southern Jurisdiction, sailed on the Cunard liner Lucania for Europe to attend the Masonic gathering at Lausanne, Switzerland. Included in the party are Grand Commander Leon M. Abbott and former Vice-President H. M. Sturges.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY Smart Set Turns Shoreward for Summer Activities

By BETTY ALDEN. THE curtain has rolled down, the play is over, and Boston's social stage is once more deserted until the Fall.

There will, of course, be numerous functions of an informal nature given by members of the smart set, but the "big shows" are quite, quite over. No longer will society folk be kept dizzy in a whirl of elaborate banquets, military balls, amateur productions, "deb" presentations, rummage sales or costume balls.

In a manner of speaking, the shows are "going on the road," the "road" being the various Summer resorts to which the smart set will carry its gaieties.

Many of Boston's fashionable circles are turning their attention to the Summer estates, where not a few families are already ensconced for the season. Those still in town are getting ready for the all-important moving of the Laras and Penates to a cooler climate preparatory to the invasion of Summer.

The migration to the North Shore is always an early one, and the Boston colony along Massachusetts most exclusively strict of shore line is already assuming faltered proportions.

Among those who have opened their homes at the shore are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cobb Walker (Helene Whitehouse), who are at West Manchester, and the Marshals Fabray of Commonwealth avenue, whose Beverly Farms estate is known as "Hickory Hill." Mrs. Fabray and the family are at the Farms, as is also her sister, Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth. Dr. Fabray sailed for abroad last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Todman Paul Snelling of Commonwealth avenue and their daughter, Miss Rita Snelling, have also opened their Summer home at Beverly Farms after a sojourn of several weeks at Hot Springs, Va. The latter resort, by the way, seems to be attracting large numbers of Bostonians, who spend a few weeks there to enjoy the sports and get the "change of scene" we all hear so much about.

Agencies of the North Shore-I note that the Essex Country Club opened its golf links on April 29, just a few days after the links of the Myopia Hunt Club were opened for its members. Both of these dates are earlier than ever before, which rather suggests the possibility that Summer colonists coming to the shore will most fellow-colonists homeward bound.

OVER in Gotham there is much bustle and bustle preparing for the mammoth street fair which is to be held on Park avenue, between Forty-seventh and Fifth streets, beginning May 16. The duration of the fair—which is being planned by society folk for the benefit of the Association for the Aid of Crippled Children—will depend on the weather.

Children are to play an important part in the affair, and no end of clever amusements are being planned for their benefit. Mrs. Lydia Hoyt's theatre is to be called the "Grand Giggle." Among the attractions will be a Russian dance by Miss Gilda Gray. Costumes have been designed for the actors by Baron de Meyer, and the dances will be staged by Fokine.

There is to be a playground for the children, a sort of an Arabian Nights' toyland, surrounded by huge jars, from each of which there will be bobbing balloons of gay colors. Within there will be a large plate ship, a reproduction of Captain Appleby's own, and in this craft there will be hidden toys for which the children will be permitted to search at so much per cent. At night this ship will be strung with gaily colored lights, and the children who heard it will walk in the moonlight and see the ship.

Another feature will be the "Hunt in Wonderland," costume where each day "A Mad Tea Party" will be served and all the characters of Lewis Carroll's classic for children will be on the scene, including the Rabbit and the Mad Hatter.

There will, of course, be numerous refreshment booths, where society girls will be on duty as waitresses. There is also to be a Dolls' Fashion Show, while Mrs. Lorrison Fox, who so successfully organized the circus last Summer at the Southampton street fair, will have charge of the one in connection with the forthcoming show.

MRS. L. LYNDE COCHRANE

Random Notes of Society

Folk in Town and Country

MRS. JOHN NICHOLAS. Mrs. Brown has closed her house at No. 181 Commonwealth avenue, which she has occupied for several winters and has opened her Summer estate at Newport for the season. Mrs. Brown, who lives in Boston during the Winter, is now her son, John Nicholas Brown, a Harvard senior, has sponsored many of the Hub's most important charity entertainments during her stay here.

Speaker of the House and Mrs. Gillett (Mrs. Rockwood Hens), Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Under Secretary of State William Phillips, as well as a host of other notables, were present at the luncheon party given recently at the Shoreham by General John J. Pershing in honor of Lord and Lady Astor. Mrs. Gillett only recently returned to Washington following a visit to Boston where she attended the Vincent Club show, in which her two daughters, Miss Lohia Hour and Mrs. "Bessie" Foster, played prominent parts.

Mrs. Eugene Van Rensselaer Thayer, formerly of Boston, has joined the New York colony at Hot Springs, Va. Mrs. Thayer, who is accompanied on her Southern trip by Miss Gladys Livermore, is a member of the Carlton, Riding and Country clubs of Boston. Her husband has also retained his memberships in various Boston clubs.

The Newport Casino opened May 1 for its forty-second season with the tennis courts in fine shape and ready for play.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn of Washington and the North Shore and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson (Marion Mason) were among those recently entertaining at Pierris, in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sayles of Chestnut Hill have concluded their sojourn at Hot Springs, Va., and are returning home.

Send your picture with your name if you are the fortunate one of the "Hickory Hill" show. Mrs. Charles Cobb Walker, who is at West Manchester, is the one in connection with the forthcoming show.

NEW'S DEFEAT SPRINGFIELD BOY IS MOST POPULAR MAY REACT ON LODGE

By Universal Service.

Washington, May 4.—No political incident occurring within the past two years has brought a greater shock to the Republican chieftains in Washington than the defeat of Senator Harry B. New in the primaries in Indiana.

New is the first Senator who voted to ratify the four-power treaty to face the people for re-nomination since the treaty vote was taken. He also supported the League of Nations with the Lodge reservations.

He has been beaten for the nomination by former Senator Albert J. Beveridge by a majority in excess of 20,000 votes.

If elected in November, Beveridge would come to the Senate to stand side by side with Senator Johnson, Reed, Shields and the others who have kept up the fight against the engaging League.

New's defeat is depressing to his associates in the Senate and to administration supporters who were misled by "his assertion of confidence and thought his re-nomination sure. The gloom that overpowered the countenances of Republicans, Senators coming up for re-election in November was particularly noticeable.

New's defeat fills them with dire forebodings.

Chief among them were Lodge of Massachusetts, McCumber of North Dakota, and the Governors of New Jersey, and Townsend of Michigan. Will the revolt against Indiana spread to their respective States, the question which asked in his own words. All are expected by opponents fully as much to be feared as Beveridge was by New.

Thomas P. Shea of Springfield, president of his class and toastmaster, was voted the most popular man in the senior class at the senior banquet of the Boston University Law School at the Hotel Westminster, with the largest senior class ever having attended. Dean Homer Shea was the principal speaker.

The results of the class questionnaire showed Dr. Harold M. Rowman as the most popular lecturer at the law school. Harry A. McCurdy of Boston was voted class delegate. John P. O'Neil, of Brookline, Captain "Buck" O'Neil, of Lawrence, (a football team, was voted the class athlete. Robert Rich of Berlin, N. H., was thought the handsomest man while Josephine Bland of Cleveland, O., was called the class girl.

B. C. TEAMS TO DEBATE

SOVIET RECOGNITION

The annual prize debate of the Mayaguez Debating Society will be held tomorrow night in the Assembly Hall, Boston College. The question to be debated is: Resolved, That the United States should recognize the Soviet government of Russia. The following will uphold the affirmative: Bernard Hawley Jones, Tufts, '24, and Charles W. Sheehan, '24. The negative speakers will be Victor Cary, '24, Joseph M. ## CHANG MOVES FOR PEACE IN CHINESE WAR

Warns Foes of Danger of Foreign Intervention; Pei-Fu's Forces Driven Back

Peking, May 4 (By the Associated Press).—General Wu Pei-Fu's forces were driven five miles farther from Peking today in an attack at Chang-tai by the Feng-Tien forces under General Chang Tzu-Lin.

General Chang has acknowledged the mandate issued by President Lin Shieh-Chang calling on both sides to withdraw to their original positions, and declares his readiness to end the fighting if Wu Pei-Fu and Tzu Kuo agree.

President Hsu, after a meeting of the Cabinet, sent telegrams to both generals, appealing to them to consider the welfare of China and end the civil war.

The telegrams called attention to the three notes handed to the Chinese government by the foreign representatives here, protesting against the fighting in the vicinity of Peking and warning of the serious consequences to China should foreigners suffer from the hostilities.

Owing to the hostilities, almost all the plans regarding China made at the Washington conference have been suspended. The Chinese official appointed to take over the British naval base at Wei-Hai-Wei has requested a postponement of the date of assumption, and the Chinese commission which was expected to meet a similar Japanese body to arrange for the restoration of Shanghai has also deferred the meeting.

Kwantung Governor Breaks With President
Amoy, China, May 4 (By the Associated Press).—General Chen Ching-Shin has broken with Sun Yat-sen, President of the Southern Chinese government, resigning the governorship of Kwantung, according to a dispatch from Canton.

LINER BATTLES SEA ON 5-MONTHS' CHICAGO TRIP
Chicago, May 4.—After battling five months with ice jams, gales and severe cold, the steamship George W. Clyde, which left Philadelphia for Chicago December 1, will arrive here today.

"A Memorandum for Three," by Anthony Trollope, a thrilling story of "The Three of Hays," first time in its new edition. (Quoting chapters in text from the Boston Sunday Advertiser.)

Wife whose affections, it is charged, were alienated by Earle F. Stockman and husband who brings action against Brighton man involving her.

MRS. GEORGE C. HENDERSON

Saturday. The Clyde is one of the five ocean vessels bought by Chicago steamship lines. After leaving Philadelphia, the ship struck a two-day storm which drove her out of her course. In the bay of Fundy she buffeted an eighty-mile gale, and in the Gulf of St. Lawrence battled 600 miles of ice, with the temperature 20 degrees below zero. In Lake Erie she struck a ninety-five-mile gale.

AUTO DEALER ACCUSED IN LOVE SUIT

Charges involving Earle F. Stockman of Brighton, member of the firm of Stockman & Rockwood, Inc., automobile dealers, and Mrs. Beatrice Henderson, former Cambridge spouse, are contained in the alienation suit for $25,000 brought by George C. Henderson, Boston salesman, against Stockman.

Stockman is married, his wife, Mrs. Ethel D. Stockman, being prominent in Brighton social circles.

Henderson charges that his wife became friendly with Stockman on August 6, 1919, and that she left his home on Christmas Day in 1920. Henderson, who was married in 1917, has a four-year-old son.

According to friends of the Hendersons, there has been considerable friction between the pair within the last year as a result of Stockman's alleged intimacy with Mrs. Henderson.

It was said today that friends of the couple had attempted to arrange a truce between them, and the alienation suit came as a distinct surprise.

The Henderson marriage in 1917 was the culmination of a war romance, Henderson being an officer in the army squadron overseas.

B. & M. TRAINS TIED UP BY $9,000 FIRE IN MEDFORD

Express traffic on the Boston & Maine railroad was tied up for nearly two hours while firemen fought a two-alarm fire at the coal sheds of B. & M. at Medford, off coast street, Medford. The fire had a good start before it was discovered, and for a time it was thought it might spread to a number of cars on the railroad siding. The damage was about $9,000.

MRS. HARRIMAN RECOVERS $250,000 GEM NECKLACE

New York, May 4.—For four days the wonderful $250,000 gem necklace of Mrs. William Averell Harriman, daughter-in-law of the late Edward H. Harriman, was mysteriously lost. The mystery deepened when the jewels were found in, beside the automobile after the car had been twice thoroughly searched.

CHILD ON MAY PARTY KILLED BY AUTO

Six-year-old Paul A. Robitaille, son of Paul and Mrs. Alfred E. Robitaille, of Somerville, was struck by an automobile and almost instantly killed, while heading a score of his little playmates on a May party, across Highland avenue to Central Hill, Somerville, where the festivities were to take place.

The children, dressed in pretty costumes, were in a group on the sidewalk near Highland avenue, near City Hall, when the fatal accident occurred.

The boy's brother and his sister were in the May procession and witnessed the fatal accident. Several of the children rushed to the Robitaille home, at No. 15 Prescott street, where they notified Pauline Robitaille.

The automobile, the police say, slid thirty-five feet with the broken out, the mark remaining in the surface of Highland avenue. It was operated by Milton E. Ellis of Warwick, R. I., and was proceeding along Highland

Bigger Feet, Bigger Hands for Girls at Vassar

By Associated Press. Wilmington, Del., May 4.—Physical education at Vassar College in the past ten years has increased the height of the average student one and a half inches, President Henry Noble MacCracken told the parents of the students at Tower Hill School.

It also has added two inches to fifth measurements and an extra shoe to the hands and feet, President MacCracken said.

The reason that only 50 per cent. of those who enter Vassar finish the course is not due entirely to lack of mentality, Dr. MacCracken stated, but often to lack of physical stamina.

The reason for the lack of stamina is due to the fact that the students before they had completed the course.

The boys' brother and his sister were in the May procession and witnessed the fatal accident. Several of the children rushed to the Robitaille home, at No. 15 Prescott street, where they notified Pauline Robitaille.

BODY OF GIRL POISON VICTIM CREMATED

The body of Alice L. Harboush of Dorchester, who died from an overdose of veronal in the Commonwealth Hotel Sunday, was cremated at Forest Hills, following a private funeral service in a Rebury undertaking parlour.

The service was private, only a few relatives and extremely close friends being present. The Rev. Dr. Seaton W. Cummings, pastor of the Congress Street Baptist Church, conducted the services.

Albert A. Winton, for love of whom Miss Harboush is thought to have swallowed the poison, was not present.

CALZA IS CONWAY'S PICK IN BIG WRESTLING BOUT TONIGHT

GRAPPLERS TO BATTLE TO A FINISH TONIGHT

By JACK CONWAY.

George Calza, sensational Italian heavyweight wrestling champion, and Yuself Hussane, are fit for their finish mat bout, which will be staged at the Grand Opera House tonight. The fact the men will grapple until one or the other has his shoulders pinned to the mat, has aroused tremendous interest in the issue. A capacity crowd will be on hand to cheer the rivals.

Jim London, who claims that he is a light heavyweight champion, threw Calza within an hour but he added that the two hour mark he will be close to the two hour mark he will be having things his own way.

Christensen and Stenbom in the Semi-Final

Ed Christensen and Max Stenbom, two famous wrestlers, will be the main attraction in the semi-final bout. Christensen, who is a champion, has been defeated by Calza in a previous bout. Stenbom, who is a champion, has been defeated by Calza in a previous bout.

The Italian champion has challenged London to a finish match. London says he will not have to give Calza consideration after tonight. But in the event Calza should win, London will consent to meet him.

Paul Doyle Picks Calza to Conquer Hussane.

Paul Doyle, junior welterweight boxing champion, will also be at the ring-side. Doyle is a great boxer for Calza. He saw him defeat Renato Gardini at Newark, and considers him the greatest Italian wrestler the game has ever known. He believes that Calza will win the world's championship after he has gained a little more experience.

Hussane Has Battled All the Headliners.

Hussane is a veteran of the mat game. He has fought with Lewis, Sugar, Stanislaus Zimmo, Walter Zimmo, and the other stars of the mat. He knows that Calza is a fighter from every angle and believes he will have an easy time winning after Calza begins to tire. He adds that he will probably be unable to fight him.

No. 13 Don't Worry Jack Conway; He Picks Calza

Calza will still be the great unbeaten after his finish mat bout with Yuself Hussane at the Grand Opera House tonight, says Jack Conway.

"Of course Hussane has experience and skill in his performance," says Conway, "but Calza is a young mountain of strength. He'd be able to bump a freight car off the tracks if he cared to do so. It will be a tough match. Maybe it will last more than two hours. Calza can stand the gaff. Didn't he win from Gardini in two hours and fifty-five minutes?"

"Jim London, who has picked Hussane, will get a shock to his system."

Conway has picked twelve straight winners.

$25 parley on Jack's selections would have netted $2,500.

Will it be thirteen straight tonight?

Conway, by the way, says there is his lucky number.

(Filene's—apologies to M. C. B.)

About this time of year
When a man says
"Fine day"
He may be pleasant
Or he may be
SARGASTIC.
For these are the days
When men leave off
Their overcoats
And expose the suit
Which the coat has covered
All winter long.
Thus exposing
To an unsuspecting world
The grease patch
Which marks the spot
Where year-old Johnnie
Heaved the bread and butter
With as true an aim
As ever Christy Mathewson
Used to fan a batter.
Now reappear
Frayed cuffs,
Shiny seat,
Gauze like elbows
And all the other
Ails and ailments.

Our suits
Have suffered in silence
The long winter through.
Ink stains bloom
Like early violets—
Commuters turn homeward
With a hoe under one arm
And a torn place
Under the other.
And all men
Who value appearance
Take account of themselves
And see whether
Along with spring gardens,
A few dollars
Planted in the fertile ground
Of Filene Good Clothes
Might not yield
A rich harvest
Of increased respect,
Increased salary,
Increased self confidence
And a bigger bank account.

WE THANK YOU.

TECH'S CHANCES GET ANOTHER SETBACK

Tech's chances of winning the Tech-Harvard track meet Saturday have been set back another notch with recent news from the Tech motor.

Freddie Madden of East Boston placed himself under the direction of Eddie Mack. Madden was turned over to Mack by Henry Myers, his former manager, who is in other business. Madden has defeated Red Chapman three times. Madden has defeated Red Chapman three times. Madden has defeated Red Chapman three times.

EAGLE MUST FLY HIGH TO TOP LAFAYETTE

Lafayette, playing the Boston College nine at Alumni Field tomorrow afternoon, appears to be a more formidable opponent than Boston University, which will visit the Heights on Saturday.

Out of nine games, Lafayette has lost but two, and is especially anxious to repeat last year's win over the Eagles.

Three members of the Lafayette nine are members of the football squad, and as Boston College has a gridiron engagement with Lafayette next Fall, the B. C. followers will have a chance to get a line on the sport of opponents the Eagle will meet when football season rolls around again.

Gazella, Brunner and Berry, all football stars, have been playing baseball in the same fashion that helped Lafayette mount high in the football world. The trio have been fielding and hitting in a manner that will cause B. C. not a little worry.

Longaker is the likely twirler to oppose the Maroon and Gold batters. He has lost only one game in his two years at the Perceps college.

Cash has been seen both in the teams practicing hard all week, and is confident that the Eagle will be in perfect condition for tomorrow's game.

Malloway or Vargas may pitch against Lafayette, as Patton will probably be saved to serve on the mound against Boston University. Malloway will show signs of wildness that may cause Harkness to reserve him until later on in the season, although in the Maine press the big southpaw had the ball being improved perfectly.

Vargas has played of equal, he seems to have a lot of confidence in his ability. In the Maine game Vargas held the home team until the seventh inning, when he was hit.

The entire B. C. team has been hitting the ball hard all season. They have fared very good against the Phillips brothers, Cullen and Pyle, and Halligan have kept some of the kinds of a terror, and Longaker has an entirely good record of a crew, the Eagle should retain the feathers tonight.

The home team with Boston University on Saturday will be a big crowd. Card B. C. has spent the week in preparation for the contest with no less and no more than the Maroon and Gold nine. Both colleges are anxious and
